Outcomes Based Assessment Management

Capabilities

Single knowledge management source

AEFIS is the integrated, web-based assessment and accreditation management solution that brings your institution's data to a centralized platform. This one-stop platform enables all user groups to find and apply organized, real-time data.

Program Design & Alignment

The Program Design Tool allows for comprehensive course mapping to promote viewing courses and students in context to provide for the most personalized learning experiences.

Syllabi Development

Instructors have the knowledge to teach great courses and now they have the tools to develop the best course content. The Course Syllabus is the core of the AEFIS Approach—allowing instructors to develop syllabi based on previous courses, student experiences, and other faculty feedback.

Assessment Reporting & Documentation

AEFIS generates assessment reports based on user roles—giving the most appropriate assessment data to each user. Comprehensive reports allow for quick understanding of current assessment findings, but also allow faculty to focus strategies on individual students.

Safe and inherent sharing

AEFIS supports collaborative curricular development with inheritance and versioning capabilities. Faculty and administrators do not have time to track down data—AEFIS features allow many heads to be greater than one with input used from multiple sources to design course content.

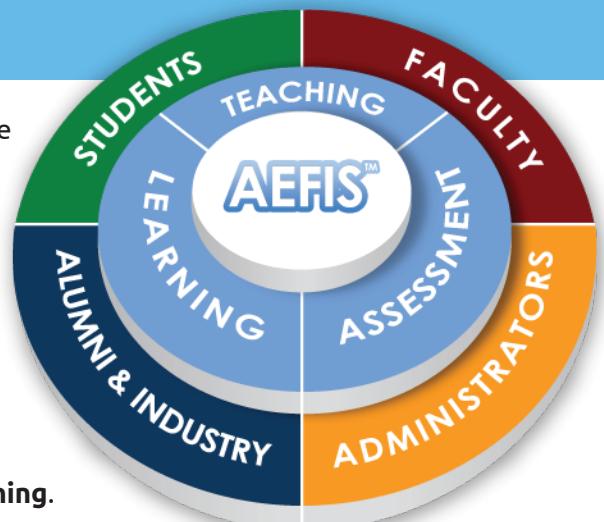

Secure data management

The sustainable methods of AEFIS clean up the messy paper trail of other data management methods by securely housing real-time information. Permissions and user role definitions keep data access secure to best benefit your institution.

Culture of Assessment

With rising costs of higher education, institutions are feeling pressure from accrediting and government agencies to document student performance and deliver the return on investment for educational practices.

AEFIS commands the necessary accountability for assessment, on the parts of administrators, faculty, students, and alumni and industry, by giving users the tools to ensure that assessment findings are a mechanism for improving educational experiences.

AEFIS embraces this change to a culture of assessment—by shifting focus from what instructors are teaching to what students are learning.

Collaborative Platform

- Continuous application of assessment knowledge
- Real-time flow of information
- Easy accreditation reporting
- Framework to distribute tasks and eliminate unnecessary efforts
